One is accustomed to find careless writing in newspapers, even those edited by men who know better, because a newspaper is a house that is torn down and rebuilt every day—and where speed is essential accuracy is more important than grammar. But I do not so excuse the national magazines.

Early Test Vote As Flynn Hearing Nears Conclusion

By the Associated Press
Washington, Jan. 23 — Public hearings on Republican charges that Edward J. Flynn is unqualified to serve as minister to Australia ended today with expectation the Senate Foreign Relations committee will submit members' reaction to his nomination by an early test vote.

The final witness in an unusual Saturday session was scheduled to be Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York City, who was called to testify principally on accusations of previous witnesses that the former Democratic National committee chairman was aware that a courtyard in his New York country estate was being paved with city materials by city employees.

Unless Flynn wishes to "reiterate his denial of these accusations or testify further in his own behalf and possibly prolong the hearing, Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) said the committee planned to study testimony over the week-end preparatory to a vote early next week on President Roosevelt's nomination of Flynn to the diplomatic post.

With both the Senate and House in recess, other chief capital developments centered in government agencies. Developments included a projected search for new economies in food distribution and disclosure that military and lend-lease problems were complicated by a "disappointing" pork market.

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard and his wartime food distribution administration indicated additional revisions in established marketing and distributing methods will result from a search for new economies in converting farm raw materials into products for the consumer.

The agency which yesterday ordered elimination of home delivery and store sales of milk in pints and half pints, declared the principal objective of the economy hunt is to find methods of raising farm prices to encourage needed production while still holding consumer price increases to a minimum.

Presently under scrutiny for possible savings, the officials said, are methods employed in meat packing and distribution and the shipping and marketing of fresh vegetables.

Meantime, food production officials announced that former sales of hogs for slaughter under federal inspection dropped 3,000,000 head below government expectations in the last three months, or about three per cent of the 1943 meat production goal.

Civilian supplies, based upon past purchases instead of present marketing of meat animals, will not be affected by the "disappointing" marketing of hogs, they added, completing the lend-lease and military supply problems.

A move in some congressional quarters for inauguration of a pay-as-you-go tax plan gained momentum with demands of Republican members of the House Ways and Means committee for immediate hearings on revenue-raising matters.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) disclosed the treasury is at work on such a plan and declared the committee would begin work next week on a current income tax payment system.

Norwegians to Keep Children From Club

Stockholm, Jan. 23 — (AP) — A Norwegian underground movement is circulating leaflets appealing to parents to keep their children out of the National Samling youth service, which is patterned after the Hitler youth movement, reports reaching here from Norway said today.

The leaflets said children enrolled in the Vidkun Quisling youth organization would be taught "to be spies in their own homes."

Nazis Take Schools for Troops in Norway

Stockholm, Jan. 23 (AP)—Schools and other buildings are being requisitioned by the Germans in Norway to house troops in Oslo, Fredrikstad and Halden, where the number of soldiers has been increasing since Christmas, reports from Norway said today.

Askin and Skjeberg also are reported crowded with soldiers. Fredrikstad and Halden are cities on the east shore of Oslofjord, below Oslo.

They have a week, or a month, to do in seven hours. I am snorting today because this week's Collier's magazine, in an article signed jointly by FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover and some journalists, uses the word "burglarized."

You never have seen that word in Hope Star—and I use it now to emphasize a simple lesson in rhetoric. "Burglarized" is a foolish word, forbidden by every well-edited newspaper in the English language. It is derived from the word "burglar"—a man who robs.

But you do not "burglarize" a place; you rob it! "Rob" not only is technically correct, but it has the magnificent advantage of employing only three letters.

Take care about using these 75c words like "burglarize," when a dime word like "rob" is the real McCoy.

On the grapevine I hear about a 3-year-old who knew what he wanted. It was in Sunday school, and his teacher asked him what hymn he wanted to hear.

And he said: "Deep in the Heart of Texas."

Commonwealths of Nations

Out of the general wonderment as to what will be post-war framework of international government, one probability is emerging, in addition to the certainty that some type of Anglo-Saxon coalition will become the permanent protector of democracy.

It seems almost inevitable that the old system of colonial empires dominated by European mother countries will give way to Commonwealths of Nations, modeled more or less on the British.

Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands already has promised a post-war reorganization of her kingdom into such a commonwealth in which the homeland, Indonesia (Netherlands East Indies), Curacao and Surinam will participate as members.

There is no doubt that the British "Empire" will be loosened yet more, with India eventually joining Canada, Australia, New Zealand and Great Britain as a full partner.

Probably the commonwealth term will not be adopted, but the United States, the Philippines and perhaps Puerto Rico will become, in fact, a commonwealth of nations.

This leaves what used to be the French Empire. In view of what happened when Hitler conquered France, it does not seem far-fetched to imagine that the one-time colonies will prove reluctant about returning to their old status.

In pure theory, the simplest thing would be for the major nations to turn their colonies completely loose and let them have both the privileges and the responsibilities.

Russians Capture Salsk in Drive Toward Rostov

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Moscow, Jan. 23 (AP)—Soviet troops, smashing through the German defense lines along the March waterway, have captured the railroad center and air base of Salsk, 100 miles southeast of Rostov, and dispersed fresh German forces which for a time threatened to slow the Russian advance in southwestern sectors, dispatches from the front said today.

The German high command said its "disengagement movement" in the northern Caucasus is proceeding according to plan. The high command command communiqué, broadcast from Berlin, declared a Nazi counterattack had driven the Russians eastward within the Don area. The invasion group trapped before Stalingrad was said to have halted the "deep enemy breach" in its western line.

The German defenses before Salsk failed to halt the Red Army any more than had the rear guard actions of Axis units in the Central Caucasus, it was reported, and the Russian advance now was said to be proceeding in both of those major sectors at a breath-taking pace.

Red Army drives have carried to within 10 miles of the important Ukrainian city of Voroshilovgrad, drives aimed at reducing its worth as a transportation center and also at flanking Kharkov to the north.

The Red Army also reported it took Konstantinovskaya, on the north bank of the Don river, only a short distance east of where the Donets river flows into the Don.

Campaign lines developing along those rivers, however, fast are being outflanked by pushes along the Sal river valley, south of the Don's course, and down from Kamensk, west of the northern Donets valley.

During last night's fighting, Russian midday war bulletin reported by the Soviet radio Monitor in London said, the same armies that took Salsk and Novy Yekaterinograd, pushed into several more towns in the region, while south of there the trans-Caucasian army was credited with the capture of "dozens of populated places."

U. S. Hurls Wheat Stock on Market

Washington, Jan. 23 — (AP) — he government tossed its 235,000,000-bushel stock of wheat on the market today in a move to keep prices from advancing above the parity level.

The wheat was offered at prices equivalent to parity at the point of storage. Parity prices vary according to point of storage and quality of the grain, but the national average Dec. 15 was $1.37 a bushel.

Officials said that the bread grain had been advancing and to keep market prices from going above parity as long as government stocks were available at that price.

The selling order followed reports that the government was considering placing a ceiling on wheat, similar to that established on corn recently, to prevent the development of a new price squeeze on millers. Prices millers receive of flour are controlled by price ceilings. Those ceilings were raised recently after advancing wheat prices cut the millers' margins to a point where many claimed they were being forced to operate at a loss.

The government wheat was acquired through liquidation of loans to growers.

In determining the sales price, the government will add 23 cents a bushel to the 1942 grower wheat was 85 per cent of parity.

The government has been selling lower grades of wheat to farmers for livestock feed at prices equivalent to 85 per cent of the parity price of corn to encourage greater production of meat, dairy and poultry products for the war food program. This wheat-feed sales program will be continued. Sales for feed purposes are limited by law to 125,000,000 bushels during the fiscal year ending June 30.

Mass Funeral

London, Jan. 23 (AP) — Mass funeral services will be held next Wednesday for 4 children and teachers who died when German bombers wrecked a London school in a daylight raid the day before yesterday.

Famed Educator of Arkansas Dies

Waco, Tex., Jan. 23 — (AP) — W. M. Briscoe, 65, head of the Baylor university French department from 1919 until retirement seven years ago and former French and German teacher at Arkansas, died yesterday.

Born at Center Point, Ark., Briscoe graduated from Ouachita college at Arkadelphia, Ark., in 1898. He taught French and German at Clinton college, Ky., and at Ouachita before heading the German department of the University of Arkansas.

Funeral services will be held here this afternoon.

Allied Bombers in Sweeping Raids on Nazis

London, Jan. 23 — (AP) — For the second successive night British bombers were reported today to have stabbed during the night at western Germany, which embraces the great industrial Ruhr valley and such important centers as Dusseldorf, Essen, Duisburg, Cologne and Frankfurt.

First news of the raid came from the Berlin radio, which said scattered bombings had caused civilian casualties and some property damage.

The RAF had been over Germany on 12 previous nights this month, including the heavy attacks on Berlin last Saturday and Sunday.

German planes struck back by bombing several places in north-eastern and southern England last night, but the raids were not on a heavy scale and while damage was done casualties were reported light.

A number of German raiders, gliding in above the clouds, landed in South England this morning, causing considerable damage. There were casualties, including some killed, it was reported.

Yesterday swarms of British, American and Allied planes made extensive sweeps over northern France and Belgium, ranging from Ghent to the Cherbourg peninsula. Seven German fighters were reported destroyed while four Allied bombers and six fighters were listed as missing.

Targets included oil installations at Terneuzen near Ghent, and German airfields in the vicinity of Maupertus, Abbeville, St. Omer and Cherbourg.

Priorities for Telegraph After Feb. 15

Washington, Jan. 23 — (AP) — The Board of War Communications has established priorities, effective February 15, for all telegraph, cable and radio telegraph carriers, giving first call to messages of the War, Navy, and State departments.

This action had been anticipated since a similar system was set up effective November 1 for long distance telephone lines.

Priorities were ordered eight days ago on all teletypewriter lines. The board established two types of priority messages, one described as US urgent and the other as OP priority the first of which applies only to domestic and international messages filed by the State, War and Navy departments while the second may be used only by the War and Navy departments.

A third designation is simply priority and may be used by any of the war agencies in matters involving immediate danger due to the presence of the enemy and emergency in connection with actual military or naval requirements, or a hurricane, flood, earthquake or other disaster.

British Take Possession of Tripoli Today

By ALFRED E. WALL
London, Jan. 23 — (AP) — The conquering British Eighth army wrested Tripoli from the Axis today and the conquest of Premier Mussolini's African empire, which Prime Minister Churchill pledged in 1940 would be torn "to shreds and tatters," was all but complete.

Rear guards left behind by Marshal Erwin Rommel to slow the pursuit of his main forces into Tunisia were overwhelmed and the British took possession of the burning city at 5 a. m., officials announced.

The Italian high command communique broadcast later by the Rome radio said Axis troops evacuated the city and moved westward last night after fierce fighting. It said motorized elements battled yesterday south of the city, around which a wing of the Eighth army was swung to speed the chase.

Berlin likewise officially acknowledged the loss of Tripoli. British War Secretary Sir James Grigg, skipping the pending mop-up of the western reaches of Libya, said the fall of Tripoli "completes the destruction of the Italian empire in Africa."

"Both the Berlin and British armies have had their dark days of retreats," he said. "For both we believe the tide is now firmly turned."

In the destruction of the Italian empire the British "have had the ungrudging help from American supplies and the American air forces in the latest stage, but nevertheless it has been overwhelmingly our show," the war secretary said.

Having dealt a shattering psychological as well as military blow to the Axis, the British pressed forward without pause toward Tunisia on the heels of Rommel's remaining troops, estimated to number 63,000.

In an effort to chop off rear elements of Axis troops before they could reach the Mareth line, 65 miles inside the Tunisian border, some of General Montgomery's forces were believed to have cut across the coastal plain through El Azzia, 20 miles southwest of Tripoli.

While the occupation of Tripoli was being accomplished, flights of Allied bombers and fighters were hanging far ahead into Tunisia in destructive attacks on Rommel's material and manpower.

While the undoubted demolished many installations in Tripoli's fine harbor, adding to the destruction wrought by Allied bombers, London military source said the ports probably could be made useful in short order.

Bengasi, they pointed out, was reported "totally destroyed" several times in the course of the war in Libya, but each time was repaired quickly by the troops capturing it.

The capture of the capital of Tripolitania put the Eighth army within 200 miles of the enemy held Tunisian port of Gabes and only 320 miles from the Axis supply lines through "bomb alley" — the stretch of the Mediterranean sea between Tunis and Sicily.

Ten miles south of Tripoli is the large airport of Castel Benito, suitable for use by large Allied bombers to raid Axis ports and bases in Tunisia and the supply lines to Sicily and Italy. Use of the excellent port of Tripoli will greatly simplify the Eighth Army's supply problem.

A good part of Rommel's force was believed to be already in contact with the Axis forces of Gen. Von Arnim behind the Mareth line 65 miles inside Tunisia.

Adkins Asks OPA to Revise Milk Prices

Little Rock, Jan. 23 (AP) — Governor Adkins wants the OPA to readjust milk price ceilings in Arkansas.

"An alarming number of dairymen are selling their herds and discontinuing deliveries because of established prices," Adkins told OPA Administrator Prentiss Brown and Regional Price Officer Clarence Nichols, of Dallas, in telegrams.

"I appeal to you to hold hearings in Little Rock and other localities with farmers, dairymen and farm organizations to try to reach a better understanding and see if some relief can be had."

Adkins made a similar request Jan. 1. Since then retail and wholesale milk price ceilings have been revised throughout the region.

Allied Merchant Ship Losses Reach 600

By The Associated Press
The number of announced United Nations and neutral merchant ship losses in the western Atlantic since Pearl Harbor reached 600 yesterday with the reported submarine torpedoing of a medium-sized British ship and a small Polish vessel.

Both ships sank in December off the coast of South America, the Navy reported. Three crewmen out of 41 were killed aboard the Polish ship. Thirty-two persons escaped from the British merchantman.

The Britishers sailed in lifeboats in the ship lanes until they were rescued. They were able to reach land, they reported, but preferred to remain where they might be sighted so their third mate, injured in the leg during the torpedoing, could be treated by a doctor.

A small fishing boat rescued two lifeboat loads of survivors from the Polish vessel.

Ten Japanese Killed for Every American

By CHARLES MCMUTRY
An advanced South Pacific base, Jan. 23 — (AP) — Ten Japs have been killed on Guadalcanal for every American soldier lost, and their air losses in the Solomons have been seven to our one, Major General A. Vandegrift of the U. S. Marine Corps said today.

"The Jap is a good fighting man, and anyone who says differently is mistaken," he said in a brief interview. "But he is no super man by any means, and he can be killed the same as anyone else."

General Vandegrift conferred with Admiral William F. Halsey, commander of the South Pacific fleet. He has been relieved of his command on Guadalcanal after months of the hardest fighting in the fighting Marines' history.

"At the present moment," General Vandegrift said, "I feel Guadalcanal is secure to us."

Without citing figures, he said American troops were taking a terrific toll of Japanese in the Solomons fighting aside from many thousands of the enemy aboard troopships which have been sunk attempting to land in the area.

General Vandegrift has turned over his command to Major General Alexander Patch, who had been commanding an advance base since March.

"The situation is in good hands," he said.

Coast Guard Cutter Said to Be Lost

Washington, Jan. 23 — (AP) — The presumed loss of the Coast Guard cutter Natchez which has been overdue in the North Atlantic for several weeks with an estimated crew of 30 aboard was announced today by the Navy.

Communicate No. 259: "1. The U. S. Coast Guard cutter Natchez has been overdue in the North Atlantic for several weeks and must be presumed to be lost. The next of kin of personnel in the Natchez have been notified.

"South Pacific: "2. U. S. Forces on Guadalcanal continue mopping up and patrol operations."

The 225-ton Natchez, which went into service only last June, was commanded by Lieut. (J. G.) Thomas Sargeant La Farge, of the Coast Guard reserve.

A grandson of the famous artist, John La Farge, and son of the late Bancel La Farge, Lieut. La Farge was described by the Navy as well known for his murals, stained glasses and mosaics. His works include frescoes in the New York hospital and in the New York World's fair, and murals in the New London, Conn., postoffice.

He likewise had frescoes and mosaics in St. Matthew's cathedral at Washington and mosaics at Trinity college, Washington.

His wife, Mrs. Marie I. La Farge, lives at Cornwall, Conn. La Farge, 38, had had extensive experience in cruising along the coasts of Newfoundland, Nova Scotia and had made several Atlantic crossings in sailboats prior to entering the coast guard reserve.

The vessel in which he was doing coast guard patrol duty was built by the Snow Shipbuilding Corporation, Rockland, Me., in 1941, and commissioned last June. Given the name of an Eskimo seal, the cutter was 116.9 feet in length and had a beam of 23.16 feet.

There was no reported clue as to its possible fate.

Allies Kill 2100 in Sanananda Sector Alone

By VERN HAUGLAND
Somewhere in New Guinea, Jan. 23 — (AP) — Organized Japanese resistance in Papua ended at 2:05 p. m., local time, yesterday when the last two remaining pockets of the enemy were wiped out.

Two days ago the Americans cleaned out the main Japanese pocket two miles from the coast along Sopula track, using heavy artillery and mortar fire. A small unit was left on the north side of the track.

A total of 475 dead were counted in that area.

At 7 a. m. yesterday, 4 Japanese members of this unit attempted to escape, and American killed 32 of them and imprisoned the remaining one.

The Americans subjected the few remaining Japs to well-organized mortar and artillery battering starting at mid-morning. Shortly after mid-day the Americans reported the Japs cleaned out.

Fourteen Jap stragglers were killed south of Gona. As far as is known, the only remaining Japanese in Papua are isolated soldiers wandering hopelessly in the swamps. These are being hunted down.

Some 1,200 Jap casualties have been counted in the Sanananda area to date. A total of 898 were previously killed in the Gona area to date. A total of 898 were of 2,100 in this sector.

The Australians captured a big wireless transmitting set near Sanananda Jan. 20. Examination showed it was in perfect condition, capable of reaching Tokyo. Evidently the Japs were surprised and hadn't had time to destroy it.

The Americans yesterday captured three Jap field ammunition dumps, 12 motor trucks and much other equipment. Today they captured large quantities of rifles, light, medium and heavy machineguns, mortars, grenades, and technical equipment, especially signal devices and two anti-aircraft guns.

Mopping up operations were carried out chiefly by companies commanded by Captains Jack Vanduvn of Eugene, Ore., Robert Hamilton of Bozeman, Mont., Ed Reams of Billings, Mont., and Lieut. John G. Boyd (home town unavailable).

Capt. Reams himself accounted for nine Japs with a Garand rifle. The folks back home would have had to see the conditions under which the main attack started in order to believe it.

Private Peter Passini of Farmington, Ill., asked how he's spent the night, replied cheerfully: "Oh, we were afraid for awhile we were going to be attacked by Jap submarines, but I guess they couldn't make their way through the mud."

Allied bombers, meanwhile, were reported to have struck another heavy blow at Japanese shipping in the harbor of Rabaul, New Britain, sinking four vessels totalling 24,000 tons in a low-level dawn attack.

"Direct hits on a 4,000-ton cargo ship split and sank the vessel within four minutes," said the communique. "An 8,000-ton transport was left burning as a result of two direct hits and later was seen to explode."

A 4,000-ton vessel with a light er moored alongside was hit and sank within 12 minutes, while another 8,000-ton vessel received three hits and was left burning with a series of explosions. Two searchlights were extinguished by strafing.

Although the big four-motored bombers ran into a high altitude snowstorm and icing conditions en route to Rabaul, and flew through heavy anti-aircraft fire over the target, all returned safely.

Other Allied air formations blasted at Japanese bases at Lae, Salamaua and Madang on the north-eastern coast of New Guinea and also attacked an enemy merchant vessel in the Arafura Sea off Cape Van Den Bosch, in Dutch New Guinea, the communique said.

At the same time two Japanese bombers were reported to have made a night raid on Darwin, Australia, dropping bombs harmlessly in a swamp. Three Japanese raiders also attacked Milne Bay, New Guinea, and a single enemy plane dropped two bombs at Merakue on the south coast of Dutch New Guinea, but caused no damage, Allied headquarters said.

Nick Etten to Play First Base for the Yankees

By AUSIN BEALMEAR

New York, Jan. 23 (AP)—When the New York Yankees begin their campaign for another baseball pennant April 21, the man at first base will be Nicholas Raymond (Nick) Etten—the eighth player to hold down that position since the late Lou Gehrig benched himself in 1939 after 17 years on the job.

Dipping into the National League for the second time in 13 months to get a capable first sacker, the American League champions obtained Etten yesterday from the Philadelphia Phils for two players and cash estimated at around $10,000.

The Phils, who can use the cash as well as the players, received First Baseman Ed Levy and Pitcher Allen Gettel, who performed last year with the Yankees' Kansas City farm in the American Association.

Etten will fill the gap created by the entrance into military service of Buddy Hassett, who came to the Yankees in December, 1941, from the Boston Braves.

The big left-hander joins the steady parade of first basemen who have moved in and out of the post Gehrig held through his record run of 2,130 games and gave up voluntarily when he began to feel the effects of the rare disease that eventually caused his death.

The Yankees assigned the job to Babe Dahlgren for a time. Then came Johnny Stumme, now in the Army. They tried to make a first baseman out of Joe Gordon and filled in with Tommy Henrich.

Levy started in the position last season but soon gave to Hassett, who held it until early in the World Series when a finger injury forced him to give way to Gerry Priddy.

A power hitter, Etten batted .311 for the Phils in 1941 but slumped to .265 last season. He is 28 years old, is married and has two children, and a 3-A draft classification.

coach at Nebraska, recalled to active army service with rank of major and named graduate director of athletics at West Point.

Three Years Ago — Metropolitan Association's refusal to grant travel permits to Howard Bark, Harold Cagle and Charles Beetham for pro games in Boston overruled by National A.A.U.

Five Years Ago — Jimmy Thomson's 64, seven below par, gave him third-round lead in $3,000 Pasadena open with 54-hole total of 206.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist

New York, Jan. 23 (AP)— Looking farther ahead than a good many folks, Elmer Ripley, Georgetown basketball coach, came back in store for pro basketball under wartime conditions. His idea is that the pros can cash in on the current popularity of the college game and that the fact that basketball courts can be put in places where gas - rationed fans can reach them.

There's no doubt about what kind of basketball the fans like. You can see for yourself in Madison Square Garden, where we once sat through a pro game yawning in unison with about 200 other spectators. But pro basketball has a long way to come back. It still survives in the American and National leagues and a few "independent" and traveling teams, but even in its best days it never was a big-time or a big - money sport.

Still, the best basketball we ever saw was played by a couple of fast A.A.U. teams that had the same kind of post - graduate material the pros could pick, and one of the most excited sports crowds we ever saw was at an American league playoff game years ago when the circuit spread as far west as Chicago.

That was the night when Joe Carr, the league president, sat on the stage in a rickety Brooklyn hall and could hardly keep his mind on the game for wondering whether the floor would collapse, and the fans were packed in so tightly they couldn't get breath for a loud yell. . . . There must have been 3,000 of them.

Our complaint then was that the players were too good, especially for the small courts they played on, they'd fool around in the back court until someone got near enough to shoot, then there'd be a couple of passes too fast to follow and the ball would be in the basket. College rules may eliminate that, but the pros themselves will have to cure another fault, allowing college boys to pick up an occasional sawbuck by playing under assumed names. The fans usually know about it if college authorities don't, and a sport can't command much respect when the players and fans regard it as something you should snake in the back door to see.

Today's Guest Star
J. P. Wynne, Lock Haven (Pa.) Express: "The two Philadelphia baseball clubs lead the major leagues. The A's have 19 men in the armed forces; the Phils 17. It appears the Quaker City boys will have done their best in the world series."

the State Police sat now, in Vaughan Dunbar's hotel room, facing Captain Meehan of the New York homicide squad, and sucking the goings and goings of its clients' automobiles, unless they were chauffeur-driven.

That was all. And Lieutenant Thatcher was frowning.

"When will these rich people learn?" he asked glumly. "They take in any stranger that has a good front. He robs them if he doesn't kill them. And when we are called in they think we are being crude when we ask, 'What do you know about this man?'"

"I grant you, those people out there at Meriwether's place were pretty much upset tonight, and I had no chance to talk with the girl. But as far as I could make out, the fellow just drove up, said something about knowing an old friend of the family, and they took him lovingly into the fold. He was a pal, right off. And who is he? That's the first thing we've got to find out. Unless we come up to him."

"Let's get ahead with the routine," said Captain Meehan. "He was an imperturbable man, of a colder and more cynical breed than his colleague. He bent over the writing desk, and put down slowly:

1. Check Clipper ship.
2. Prints and description to FBI.

3. Check British legation.
4. Check banks.

5. Check State Department for passport visas.

Then he lifted his slow glance to Lieutenant Thatcher. "I understand he was some sort of newspaperman."

Lieutenant Thatcher grunted. "The people out there gathered something like that—in a vague way."

Captain Meehan wrote again: 6. Check press associations.

7. Check U. S. offices of all English papers and press associations.

"We'll get going on this in the morning," he said, "unless he's been picked up by then."

"One more thing," Lieutenant Thatcher said. He picked up the pen and wrote:

8. Check Meriwether's past history.

THE morning came, and the routine of inquiry began its steady course. The day wore through, with no news at all of Vaughan Dunbar. And on the following day, which was Tuesday, Lieutenant Thatcher and Captain Meehan

Browns, Cards May Train at Cairo, Columbia

St. Louis, Jan. 23 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns and Cardinals, only two major league clubs with permission to train west of the Mississippi river, may not use that privilege.

All other clubs, to conserve travel, have agreed to remove west and south of the Ohio and the Potomac rivers. The state of Missouri was included as fair a name for the Browns and Cards in their hunt for a training site.

But President Sam Breadon of the world champion Cardinals has a weather eye, literally, on Cairo, Ill. It's as close to baseball out-of-bounds as one can get. That's where the Ohio and Mississippi meet.

Breadon has been told a cinder track would be available, and the city has agreed to polish its diamond until it has a major league glitter.

Cairo isn't final, Breadon points out. He and Manager Billy Southworth will take a look at a couple of other Missouri sites before making a final decision.

The Browns' apparently prefer Columbia, home of the University of Missouri. There's a field house there, large enough for indoor drills. But the Army is sending more and more service men to Columbia, and if the time comes when there isn't room enough for the Army and Browns, it won't be the Army that's squeezed out.

Luke Sewell, Brownie manager, home from an inspection trip of several Missouri possibilities, says he has found what he wanted, but it is spread over too much landscape.

"If we could take the good points of each town we've visited and put them all together," Luke declares, "we'd be all right."

Fulbright Gives Impressions of the House

Washington, Jan. 23 (AP)—"My first impression is that the intelligence of the member is in inverse ratio to the amount of speaking he does on the floor of the House."

That is what Bill Fulbright, new congressman from northwest Arkansas, told his constituents in the first of a series of letters sent to weekly newspapers in his district.

The 37-year-old former president of the University of Arkansas, one of the three Rhodes scholars in Congress, continues his impressions as follows:

"On the whole, the members seem to be a very human group, reflecting quite accurately the unlimited variety that exists in this great country of ours."

Fulbright said, "everyone expects it to be a difficult session for everyone."

"The Democrats," he said, "are in an extremely difficult spot because the Republicans will seek to embarrass them on every hand in order to influence the elections in 1944."

"No one takes seriously the Republican expression of unity and cooperation and their recent speeches on the floor justify this attitude."

He said he had met several times with the other representatives and the senators from Arkansas. "They get on very well together and I believe will be able to promote the welfare of the state and nation."

"The House members are all really young and have succeeded in obtaining places on many of the most important committees of the House. If they all succeed in retaining their seats for a few years, they will most certainly become one of the most influential groups in Congress. They are uniformly well educated, young and vigorous."

Cattle Grubs Bad Enemy in Total War

In total war, cattle grubs are one of our worst enemies. Cattle grubs lower milk and beef production by reducing the health of the animals and ruin the best leather in the hide by making holes in it, declares Oliver L. Adams, County Agent.

Right now is the time to kill the grubs. The best method is to thoroughly mix equal parts by weight of Cube or Derris powder and Wearable sulfur, and apply with a shaker-can
